

SharePoint Strengthens Integrated Health Network's Ability to Store and Search Policies

Client

ProHealth Care, a regional integrated health network (IHN) serving community in Southeast Wisconsin, previously employed a home-grown ASP solution to store and search policies and procedures.

Business Challenge

A lack of standardized business processes for policies and procedures across the enterprise resulted in duplicated policies created across entities, inconsistent search results, and an inefficient allocation of resources to support policy and procedure creation, collaboration, and tracking functions. The client engaged The Revere Group to implement Microsoft SharePoint 2007 as a technology solution that would facilitate policy and procedure standardization, simplify management and end-user experience, and optimize efficiency.

Solution

Revere facilitated the implementation of the SharePoint solution by providing project management/leadership to a team of functional and technical personnel, managing the solution testing process, and guiding the creation of training and communication materials. In addition, Revere worked with the client to carefully plan for the final deployment and knowledge transfer.

The SharePoint solution's design supports both improved end-user search capabilities and the client's unique compliance and regulatory reporting requirements; its configuration supports 3 main sites, 6 hierarchies, 7 distinct user roles, 6+ work flows, and allowed for the migration of approximately 2,000 existing policies into the system.

Results

With Revere's guidance, ProHealth successfully deployed SharePoint 2007 Policy and Procedure system to its Hospital and Home Health entities. In addition, the client implemented a technology platform to leverage future SharePoint solutions.
